Purpose of the Center

The Center of Spiritualist Studies is structured with a threefold purpose:

Objects of the Center

The Center is aware that the world community is composed of a diversity of racial ethnic, social and cultural groups and that these groups include many religious traditions that live and work within a rapidly changing technological society.

The Center believes that in order to live productively and harmoniously within today's complex world, a good education is an indispensable asset.

To provide the asset of education the Center is lovingly dedicated to the NSAC membership, future leadership and the family of humanity.

The Curriculum

The Centers curriculum develops and cultivates the full range of human intelligence and capabilities; installs the habits of mind and disposition of character needed to use that understanding wisely and humanely; develops the educational and personal skills necessary to become productive members of the world community, as well as certified workers of Modern Spiritualism.

Diploma Programs

Advanced Diploma Programs in Ministry and Religious Studies as well as Diploma Programs for Licentiate Minister, Certified Medium, Commissioned Healer and national Spiritualist Teacher are offered through correspondence courses.
